VIASYN, Inc.

VIASYN, founded in 2001, is a leader in risk management for renewable energy generators and provides scheduling coordination, portfolio management and consulting services to wholesale power market participants. By way of excellent service, financial innovation, superior process, and proprietary technology, we focus on optimizing the financial and operating efficiency of renewable generators in the rapidly evolving deregulated wholesale power markets. Viasyn's clients include some of the largest renewable developers in the world. Additionally, VIASYN is active in the Western Renewable Energy Information System (WREGIS) and is developing strategies to trade Renewable Energy Certificates (RECs) in all active US RECs markets. Since inception, VIASYN has settled over one billion megawatts of renewable energy transactions in California and is expanding to serve clients in ERCOT and PJM in 2008.
